

10 Belgrave Rd Clifton. June 19/94

Dear Mr Garrison,

120

Mrs Clark has sent me the accompanying letter to read & forward to you - She had heard from her Aunt's Miss Priestman of your coming to Bristol, & she is most an-xious to have you under her own roof instead of coming to her Aunt's to meet you - If you fall in with her plan your way would be to go direct from London to Glastonbury on the Saturday (if you adhere to the 30th for your day of departure) and to come here on Monday seeing Glastonbury Abbey, Wells Cathedral & Cheddar Cliffs - three of our greatest attractions - en route from Street - Or if your day ^{starting} of was changed, it would be to go to Street from London one day to come back ^{here} via Wells the next.

Mr Clark deserves the honor of a visit from you as much as any one in the three kingdoms for she has followed your history & loved and revered you deeply from her earliest childhood -

And in the time of your terrible civil war she labored to explain the true issues of the conflict, & gave educated those she could reach into a just estimate of the issues.

You know how bold a champion of woman's suffrage she is, while her devotion to Mrs Butler and the New Abolition movement is as unflinching and intense -

I cannot judge for you as to the expenditure of time by this extension of your visit. But you would see a quaint old Somersetshire town & much characteristic scenery - old churches, turf moors, & a variety of picturesque views, besides a genial old fashioned quaker family circle (The Clarks)

Pray feel quite free to arrange as you like best; for to me anything which is congenial to you will be acceptable. The Miss Priestman will contrive to get Mrs. H. Bright Clark here if you decline going to her own house to see her -

With best regards to Frank (I hope I may call him so without offence) yours affectionately Margaret Estlin
